Pittsburgh's Next Generation of Music Legends in association with the August Wilson Center for African American Culture presents

The Return of James Brown by America's #1 Tribute Artist
Ty Stone

'The Return of James Brown Tribute', performed by America's #1 Tribute Artists Ty Stone, is coming to the August Wilson Center, 980 Liberty Avenue, Downtown Pittsburgh on Saturday, July 9, 2011 @ 7:00 PM.

Ty Stone, America's greatest James Brown tribute artist, finds the soul of James Brown in this authentic tribute to the Godfather of Soul Music. He honors the world's greatest entertainer in a spectacular production as dazzling and elaborate as James' own performances.

His soulful vocals, feverish dancing, wardrobe and unique rhythmic style is perfectly duplicated in this show. From an electrifying band reminiscent of the James Brown Famous Flames and the JBs to the go-go girls--this is a premier show.

Ty Stone's "The Return of James Brown Tribute" has sold out throughout the United States.

His performance will convince you you're actually watching James Brown 'live' on stage singing many of his hit songs such as This Is a Man's World, Try Me, Night Train, Living in America, Soul Power, Sex Machine, I Feel Good, Super Bad and more!
